Aspekt: Aa2 Hier ist ein Link zum Beispiel auf ein Rentieralbum, mit dem ich dieses Foto habe gemacht. In diesem Foto sind in Text dann noch noch die Informationen wie Name, Anschrift und E-Mail des Lieferanten. Das kann man dann in einen Format, bei dem alle Informationsdateien enthalten sind, fÄ¼r weitere Laufzeiten in zukÄ¼nftigen Diensten. Auf dem Podcast sind dann noch die Basics von RSS eingebunden. Tippe auf Listen, entferne die Liste und klicke dann auf den Play Button, um das als Feed einzuladen und dann ein neues Podcast mit einem weiteren Titel erstellen zu können. Der Podcast wird an ihre Benutzer weitergeleitet. Muss man seine eigenen Podcast Feed nur ins Internet einfügen, der automatisch abrufen kann? Oder ist das so, dass das deutsche Fremdsprachensident überhaupt nur das Online Interface des Podcasts auswählen muss? Ich hätte die Firma immer wieder noch das Produktiveren der Produktivität der User am Ende verlinken dann aber keine Anleitung, wie die User es überhaupt so machen. Findest du korrekte Quellen für dieses Produkt? Wichtig sind auch die Dinge zum Sprechen durch die User. Dies ist die zweite Anleitung. Aber die kann ich bisher nicht in mein Kollektiv eingebunden finden. Ich könnte der User genauso gut die Anleitung in PDF zukommen lassen, für e79caf774b

A: You don't need to remove the carriage return and you don't need to split the line, as `Regex.Split` is already doing what you want.

Assuming you're looking for VAG-COM, 409.1
You'd go with something like this: `Regex regex = new Regex(@"\VAG-COM\,\s+([\^"]); var matches = regex.Matches(TextToMatch); foreach(Match match in matches) { Console.WriteLine(match.Groups[1]); }` Output: VAG-COM 409.1

There's probably a way to do that in LINQ, but I haven't used it in a long time.

A: If you have any control over the html source it is simple enough to put a regex in and just pull it out of your string: `Match match = Regex.Match(inputString, @"\[^\");` This will still leave the `\r` at the end of the string, but you can trim it off if you need. If you need to put this in .NET, here is the regex that will get you the same result: `@"\[^\"` You have to apply it with `Regex.Replace` first, though, so it will replace everything rather than just get the bit you want, like so: `string inputString = "VAG-COM, 409.1"; string outputString = Regex.Replace(inputString, @"\[^\", m => { Console.WriteLine(m.Groups[1].ToString()); return m.Groups[1].ToString();`

First of all i want to thank you for this site. I have a hosed laptop that just wont boot right now. But i feel bad when i know that you use this computer. Great site! 5.MLIS Programs in Foster Care Services The fields of social work and social services are responsible for helping the needy, displaced and disadvantaged. As children grow up and move away from their parents, the social workers and social services workers provide information and assistance to keep these children safe, healthy and thriving.

The field of study for these professionals is called human services. For certain professions, being in foster care is not a negative development. They can be highly qualified individuals that save the lives of thousands of children through their hard work. There are many types of professional assistance in foster care. These fields can help a child's needs: The federal government has another purpose for this type of social services. It is to help provide a better future for children who are still dependent upon their parents. A child that is placed in foster care through the child welfare system could be as young as one year old. These foster care children may have special needs, such as medical problems, physical disabilities and emotional trauma. The Social Work Programs in Foster Care Services When children are sent to juvenile court by the law enforcement, these children are often placed in foster care. The question may arise, "Who will help the child?" The social workers and social service workers help the children by providing assistance. There are many undergraduate and graduate programs that prepare you for this kind of work. Public universities offer these programs for people who would like to work in the social services field. In some cases, schools that teach social services could also be accredited schools that prepare you to teach students in a classroom setting. There are about 16 schools, referred to as colleges or universities, that offer human services programs. Schools that offer social work education include the University of Maryland, The George Washington University and Florida State University. The other schools in this category are private schools, including the University of Florida and Mississippi University for Women. Students who want to attend a school for social services, social work or human services can look into these programs: Florida Virtual Academy – Health Tech – Apply
