Determination of trace elements in ore particles and ore-containing residues by atomic-absorption spectrometry and graphite furnace-atomic-absorption spectrometry. A method is described for the determination of Al, Ba, Ca, Fe, K, Mg, Mn, Na, Pb, Rb, S, Sr, Ti, V and Zn in ore particles and ore-containing residues. The method is based on acid digestion of samples, evaporative concentration of the digest and determination of the respective elements by graphite furnace-atomic-absorption spectrometry (GF-AAS) or atomic-absorption spectrometry (AAS). For GF-AAS, samples are dissolved in hydrofluoric acid, and their volatile components are evaporated in a stream of HCl at 85 degrees C and finally analysed by GF-AAS. For AAS, the samples are dissolved in a mixture of nitric acid and hydrogen peroxide and the elements are determined by AAS. The accuracy of the method was evaluated by analysing certified reference materials, i.e. soil, ore and ore-containing residues, of the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST). Recoveries of 81-125% for Al, Ba, Ca, Fe, K, Mg, Mn, Na
